Hyndman Saves You Time, Resources and Money...

Whether produced in-house or purchased from a supplier, there are both tangible and intangible costs associated with the heating elements used in your products. At Hyndman, we pride ourselves in consistently and dependably saving our customers time, resources and money in the manufacturing of open coil heating elements. Here's how.

Time

- Our large variety of in-stock alloys means your diverse needs can be met in days, not weeks
- Constant attention to quality ensures we meet your specs the first time
- We have our price quote to you in hours not days

Resources

- You no longer need your own equipment to produce coils
- Always at a premium, you can regain space currently absorbed by inventory, machinery and production
- What we do allows you to use your labor more effectively since our staff of specialists is entirely dedicated to making coiled wire heating elements

Money

- Hyndman's extensive ordering allows you to leverage our buying power to reduce your wire costs
- You no longer have the expense of machinery maintenance or inventory costs
- Air freight and shipping costs are reduced
- Save on labor and training costs
- No scrap costs

...Headaches & Hassles

When you make the choice to use Hyndman, there are obvious savings. You will make a significant, positive impact on your bottom line. You will also reduce your headaches and hassles. Although a less tangible cost, stress does have an impact on you and your operation. You will find that Hyndman becomes an extension of your company, working seamlessly with your process like one of your own departments. So, rather than being considered an "outsourc," we become a trusted resource you can rely on day-to-day and week-to-week.

We don't just talk about being responsive, we ARE responsive.

That's how Hyndman Industrial Products does business.

Our Products Are Right For You

Coiled wire heating elements

No element fabrication is too difficult for our experienced team. Our customers include manufacturers from the home appliance, process heating, medical device and industrial furnace industries.

Resistance wire

We have one of the largest and most diverse inventories anywhere for use by manufacturers, engineers or hobbyists. We carry both popular and hard-to-find alloys from 000 to 50 gage.
